

American National Standard

for Information Technology –

SCSI –

Reduced Block Command Set (RBC) - Amendment 1

Approved xx xxx 2003

Secretariat: Information Technology
Industry Council (ITI)

Page 1 of 2 pages

Amendments to NCITS.330-2000

- On page 9. Replace existing Table 3 with new Table 3 shown on the following page.
- On page 13, Sub-clause 5.4.1 – Error! Reference source not found – reference should be to 5.8.3.
- On page 14, Sub-clause 5.5 – Error! Reference source not found – reference should be to Table 10.
- On page 19, Sub-clause 6.1 – In the fifth paragraph after Table 16, replace the reference to Table 15 with a reference to Table 16.
- On page 19, Sub-clause 6.1 – Replace the last paragraph with “ Consult SPC-2 for the meaning and usage of bits and fields in the INQUIRY command that are not defined by this standard. Logical unit support for these other bits and fields may be mandatory or optional, as specified by SPC-2.”
- On page 20. Replace existing Table 17 with new Table 17 shown on the following page.
- On page 20. Insert the following paragraph as the second paragraph immediately after table 17 in clause 6.2., “ The Parameter List Length field specifies the length in bytes of the mode parameter list. A parameter length of zero shall not be considered an error.”

An American National Standard implies a consensus of those substantially concerned with its scope and provisions. An American National Standard is intended as a guide to aid the manufacturer, the consumer, and the general public. The existence of an American National Standard does not in any respect preclude anyone, whether he has approved the standard or not, from manufacturing, marketing, purchasing, or using products, processes, or procedures not conforming to the standard. American National Standards are subject to periodic review and users are cautioned to obtain the latest editions.

The American National Standards Institute does not develop standards and will in no circumstances give an interpretation of any American National Standard. Moreover, no person shall have the right or authority to issue an interpretation of an American National Standard in the name of the American National Standards Institute.

CAUTION NOTICE: This American National Standard may be revised or withdrawn at any time. The procedures of the American National Standards Institute require that action be taken to reaffirm, revise, or withdraw this standard no later than five years from the date of approval. Purchasers of American National Standards may receive current information on all standards by calling or writing the American National Standards Institute.

New Table 3

Table 3 – FORMAT UNIT command

Bit Byte	7	6	5	4	3	2	1	0
0	OPERATION CODE (04h)
1	Reserved
2	Reserved			IMMED	PROG-RESS	PERCENT/TIME	INCRE-MENT
3	Reserved
4	Reserved
5	CONTROL = 00h

New Table 17

Table 17 – MODE SELECT (6) command format

Bit Byte	7	6	5	4	3	2	1	0
0	OPERATION CODE (15h)
1	Reserved			PF = 1	Reserved			SP
2	Reserved
3	Reserved
4	PARAMETER LIST LENGTH
5	CONTROL = 00h

An American National Standard implies a consensus of those substantially concerned with its scope and provisions. An American National Standard is intended as a guide to aid the manufacturer, the consumer, and the general public. The existence of an American National Standard does not in any respect preclude anyone, whether he has approved the standard or not, from manufacturing, marketing, purchasing, or using products, processes, or procedures not conforming to the standard. American National Standards are subject to periodic review and users are cautioned to obtain the latest editions.

The American National Standards Institute does not develop standards and will in no circumstances give an interpretation of any American National Standard. Moreover, no person shall have the right or authority to issue an interpretation of an American National Standard in the name of the American National Standards Institute.

CAUTION NOTICE: This American National Standard may be revised or withdrawn at any time. The procedures of the American National Standards Institute require that action be taken to reaffirm, revise, or withdraw this standard no later than five years from the date of approval. Purchasers of American National Standards may receive current information on all standards by calling or writing the American National Standards Institute.